

ISBN 978-0-557-92160-7

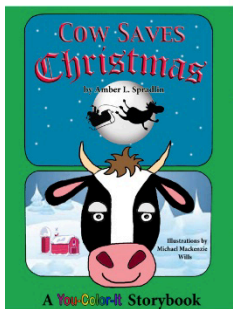

ISBN 978-1-300-19858-1

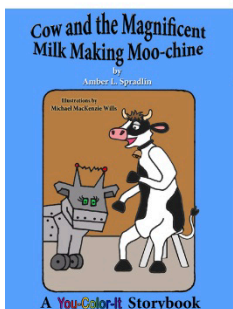

ISBN 978-0-578-14723-9

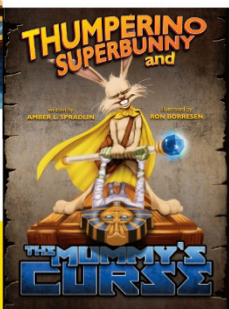

ISBN 978-0-9964421-9-0

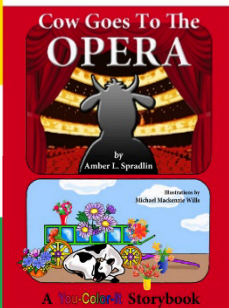

ISBN 978-0-9964421-3-8

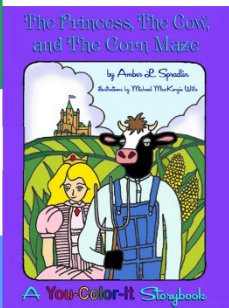

ISBN 978-0-578-14723-9

ISBN 978-1-312-01902-7

ISBN 978-0-9964421-1-4

ISBN 978-0996442145

"Superheroes come in all sorts of shapes and sizes but now there is a new superhero in town - Thumperino Superbunny! ...a kind and courageous character that shows just what a hero he really is...an enjoyable book for children and parents...a quaint story with emphasis on the basic lessons that children should learn like, deductive reasoning, determination, sharing, teamwork, sensitivity to the needs of others and acts of selflessness. I highly recommend it."

~ Pacific Book Review

About Thumperino Superbunny and A Cow Named Cow

The Thumperino Superbunny series is a collection of chapter books for middle grade readers chronicling the adventures of a New York City house rabbit blessed with super-powers and a duty to make the world a better place. The series is a two time Grammy Contender for Best Children's Album (audiobook), it has won the Creative Child magazine Book of the Year, the Preferred Choice Award, the Pinnacle Book Award, the Pacific Book Award, the National Indie Excellence Award, and appeared on NBC's The Michael J. Fox Show. The A Cow Named Cow collection, winner of the Creative Child magazine Book of the Year and a Beverly Hills Book Awards Finalist, are You-Color-It Storybooks for ages 4 and up. Color the pictures and let your creativity bring them to life in this heart-warming tale about an adventurous young Cow who lives in France. These books have reached number one on the Top 100 Children's Books list, made their international debut at the Bologna Children's Book Fair in Italy, and have been accepted into the Library of Congress and The National Library of Scotland. They have also been adapted for the stage in a string of New York Times recommended musicals.

Hocks Out Press titles are in the Ingram catalog; making them available for sale in bookstores everywhere. They are popular as digital books in the iBookstore, at Amazon, and Barnes & Noble.

About Hocks Out

Hocks Out was originally inspired by the adventures of Thumperino, a real life house rabbit and his companion Veronica. The pair are adopted therapy rabbits, certified by the Service Animal Registry of America. They reside in New York where they work to spread the message of the value of pet adoption. A portion of the proceeds from sales of products on Hocks Out are donated to rabbit rescues and reading programs.

Hocks Out is a web portal into a world of merchandise, book publishing through Hocks Out Press, social media mini-tales, and photo/video explorations from around the world, including several world heritage sites.

About the Author

Amber L. Spradlin is the author and creator of the action hero series Thumperino Superbunny and the You-Color-It Storybook collection A Cow Named Cow. She is a partner with the New York based theatrical production company G&W LLC, a member of Grammy (NARAS – National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences), a graduate of the University of Washington School of Drama in Seattle, and was nominated for the Kennedy Center's Irene Ryan Acting Award. Ms. Spradlin regularly presents author visits at libraries around the country where she reads live action segments of her books.

News

The Thumperino Superbunny and Cow stage musicals are now available for licensing from Heuer Publishing.

Contact:
Hocks Out Press
P.O. Box 6969
New York, NY 10150
info@HocksOut.com
www.HocksOut.com
(347) 528-8337

