

The Superbunny makes his debut in Nebraska Life Magazine

Peter Buffett's Path

EMMY AWARD-WINNER and Nebraska native Peter Buffett has made life fulfilling since graduating from Omaha Central High School in 1976. He was described as MTV's musical mind during the early days of the network and has composed scores for blockbuster movies such as Dances with Wolves and the CBS miniseries 500 Nations.

Buffett has released 15 albums on various labels and owns two independent record labels of his own. He produces eclectic rock/pop, soft and progressive rock, and instrumental music, and recently branched out to explore vocals. Many of his songs are based on the human rights issues he addresses through his involvement with the NoVo Foundation, an organization fighting for many causes, including the equality of girls and women worldwide, which he co-chairs with his wife, Jennifer.

The foundation started in 1999 when Buffett's parents, billionaire investor Warren Buffett and his late wife, Susan, gave a gift to establish it.

"It grew in 2006 when my father decided to give away his money," Buffett said. "We always knew he would do that."

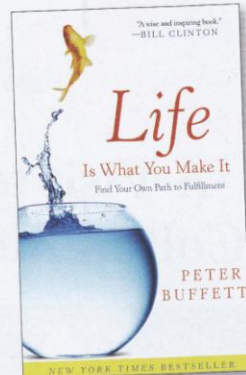

While the elder Buffett's gift has funded the charitable foundation, Peter has made his own way in life, blazing his own trail through the pitfalls and opportunity in the entertainment industry, following passion over convention and being fortunate enough to be able to make a living at it.

Now established and successful in a career he enjoys, Buffett describes the rewards of taking his own path in his book, Life is What You Make It: Find Your Own Path to Fulfillment, an inspirational guide to controlling your own destiny.

He's merged the life lessons contained in the book into a multimedia show with live music, including Michael Kott on the cello and Buffett on the piano in between questions from the audience.

"It's not a talk," he said. "It truly is a conversation."

In addition to the live music, video clips from his TV, film and philanthropic work are intertwined, all proving that it is possible to pursue and achieve your dreams, and help others attain theirs, too.

Life is What You Make It: A Concert and Conversation with Peter Buffett will be at the Lied Center for the Performing Arts on Nov. 16.
